

Valeria M. Acevedo - City Attorney

Valeria Acevedo has been serving as City Attorney for the City of New Braunfels since November, 2011. Prior to working for the City of New Braunfels, she held the position of First Assistant City Attorney for the City of Laredo City Attorney's Office, where she was employed for 14 years. Ms. Acevedo began her legal career in private practice in 1997 and soon transitioned to a job as a municipal attorney for the City of Laredo, when she was hired as the municipal court prosecutor. Over her career she has been promoted to various positions including First Assistant City Attorney and interim city attorney for the City of Laredo in 2006 and 2007.

She completed her undergraduate studies at Brandeis University and received her BA in English. Being a native Texan, she returned home as soon as she could. She lived in San Antonio upon her return to Texas where she worked and attended St. Mary's School of Law before moving back to Laredo to begin her long career as a municipal attorney.
